DETAILED OFFICE ACTION

Faxing of Responses to Office Actions

In order to reduce pendency and avoid potential delays, TC 3700 is encouraging FAXing or responses to Office Actions directly into the Group at (571) 273-8300. This practice may be used for filing papers, which require a fee by applicants who authorize charges to a PTO deposit account. Please identify the examiner and art unit at the top of your cover sheet. Papers submitted via FAX into TC 3700 will be promptly forwarded to the examiner.

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: Reference “40” is not shown in the drawings. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: It is unclear what is meant by “fro” in line 1. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, and 6-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Taylor (Des.503,025-S).

Taylor discloses in Fig. 1-7, a display page having pockets (A) comprising: a semi-rigid to rigid page (B); at least one pocket (A) attached to the page, and having a depth to hold items; including a partially transparent front wall (C, as stated in Fig. 1 description) connected to at least one side wall (D, in Fig. 3); a window (E) disposed adjacent an opening (F) of the pocket (A) on the front wall (C); a flap (G) disposed proximate the opening (F) and being movable between an open position and a closed position covering the opening; wherein the window (E) is disposed over either a minority (Fig. 1) or a majority (Fig. 7) of the front wall; wherein the opening (F) is disposed proximate a side edge or top edge (S1 of Fig. 1) of the display page; and including a second pocket on a side of the page opposite the side to which the pocket is attached (see Fig. 3). It is inherent that the display page would be either semi-rigid or rigid in order to support both the pocket and the weight of the inserted coins.

In regards to the pocket being deep enough to hold photographs, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. Therefore, the pocket can be as deep as end user desires.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Taylor in view of Walton (6,652,178-B2).

Taylor discloses a display page comprising all the elements as claimed in Claim 1, and as set forth above. However, Taylor does not disclose: a locking mechanism to retain flap in closed position; and wherein at least on a first or second portion of securing mechanism is disposed on the flap.

Walton disclose in Fig. 4j and 7b, a pocket having a locking mechanism (88), wherein a portion (88A) of the locking mechanism (88) is disposed on a flap (87).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Taylor's display page with a pocket having a lock mechanism on a flap as taught by Walton for providing security for the item(s) placed in the pocket.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 11-22 are allowed.

6. Claims 2 and 3 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Ryan, Hensel, Takayama, Rowley, Barrick, Kirk, Draddy, Westover et al, Dubs, Udwin et al, Youngs, Greenway, French et al, McIntyre, and Duval et al disclose similar display pages.
